Free Ranging Bird Aviary consists of different species of birds to live together.

Birds like Crown Cranes, Scarlet Ibis, Flamingos, Pelicans and Parakeets can be found easily flying around the free ranging aviaries.

Fun Facts about Scarlet Ibis

Native flocks exist in Brazil; Colombia; French Guiana; Guyana; Suriname; and Venezuela, as well as the islands of the Netherlands Antilles, and Trinidad and Tobago.

Diet : In the wild; crabs and other crustaceans, small fish, molluscs, frogs, worms and insects;

In Zoo; fish, crustaceans and insects, as well as a commercial pellet diet.

Fun Facts about Crown Cranes

Found in the grassland and wetland areas of the eastern and southern regions of Africa.

They're omnivores, so that means they can eat both plants and animals. Their diet usually consists of plants, grain, insects, snakes and small fish.

Fun Facts about Flamingos

Chilean, Andean and James' flamingos live in South America, and the greater and lesser flamingos live in Africa. Greater flamingos can also be found in the Middle East and India.

Flamingos filter-feed on brine shrimp and blue-green algae. Their beaks are specially adapted to separate mud and silt from the food they eat, and are uniquely used upside-down.

Fun Facts about Pelicans

Pelicans are found on many of the world's coastlines and also along lakes and rivers. They are social birds and typically travel in flocks, often strung out in a line. They also breed in groups called colonies, which typically gather on islands.

Pelicans eat fish, tadpoles, crustaceans and sometimes even turtles.

Pelicans live on every continent except Antarctica.

Fun Facts about Parakeets

The word parakeet literally means "long tail."

Parakeets can be taught a vast vocabulary.

Very different from a parrot, parakeets do not use their feet to hold food that is being consumed.

Parakeet is an omnivore (it eats plants and meat). Its diet is based on seed, fruit, eucalyptus leaves, various types of ferns and insects.
